

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT IN ZACHARY CASE

VERDICT IS REACHED AFTER JURY HAD BEEN OUT OVER FOUR HOURS

Decision Was Reached on the Third Ballot
—Defendant Did Not Show Any Emotion
When the Verdict Was Read—Widespread Interest Shown in Case Locally

WINCHESTER, May 3.—After deliberating a little more than four hours the jury in the case of Samuel T. Zachary, charged with the killing of Luther Crawford, returned a verdict at 10 o'clock tonight finding the defendant guilty of manslaughter. The verdict was reached on the third ballot, and carries an indeterminate punishment of from one year to life, at the discretion of the parole board.

The interest shown thruout the last two days of the trial was maintained tonight, many citizens waiting in the court room for the decision of the jury. When the jury announced that a verdict had been reached Judge Smith was summoned and the verdict received. The defendant and his son and attorneys representing both sides also were present. When the verdict was read in court Mr. Zachary did not show any emotion whatever, receiving it with calmness.

PRESIDENT SENDS CONGRATULATIONS TO ARMY AVIATORS

Says They Have Written
New Chapter in Air Service

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—President Harding on being informed today of the non-stop flight from New York to San Diego of Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly, sent the two aviators a telegram of congratulations, telling them that they had "written a new chapter in the triumph of American aviation."

Army air service headquarters also telegraphed under the signature of Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, the following message to the two pilots:

"I extend to you most hearty congratulations upon your successful completion of the world's record non-stop flight from New York to San Diego. This flight is viewed with pride by all air service officers and brings to this country increased prestige in the world of aeronautics. It is the fruit of a determined and courageous effort of which you may both be justly proud."

The transcontinental flight of Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly was the culmination of more than a year's efforts by army officers in the air service.

An official representation for the study made by the air service in preparation for the flight was made public today. It points out the material advantages, both commercial and military, attendant upon the successful accomplishment of the flight. From a standpoint of national defense, the report says, a non-stop transcontinental air voyage indicates the feasibility of transporting men, messages or any other vital necessities, from one coast to the other in an incredibly short space of time.

Another feature is the demonstration that it is possible to concentrate large numbers of air planes at any desired point within the United States on short notice.

In the field army aviation, the report says, the accomplishment of the two pilots is expected to encourage aircraft companies to organize aerial transportation service and establish an increased number of landing fields and air routes over the country.

The concluding arguments of both sides were heard by several hundred men and women, many of whom came from Jacksonville purposely to hear the ending of the trial. The defense summed up its evidence in strong and convincing style. The prosecution, although not laying special stress on the death penalty, did not ignore it and the prosecutors asked that the defendant give his own life for his crime or that he be imprisoned for the remaining years of his life.

Robinson spent an hour on the floor and finished his argument at 5 o'clock. The ensuing half hour was given over to formal instruction of the jury by the court. The jurors then followed the bailiff out of the court room for their evening meal, after which they began deliberation of the mass of evidence both sides had submitted to them during the two previous days.

If the slayer of Zachary is acquitted it will not be because the state presented a feeble case. On the other hand, if Zachary is convicted, it will not be due to the lack of flight on the part of the defense. Persons who heard the entire proceedings agreed that both sides had presented remarkably weighty cases and that the jurors would have a heavy task on their hands in finding a verdict.

Hairgrove in his last stand for the defendant laid emphasis on the statement that no person saw the first shot fired. What had come on a few minutes before this is known only to Zachary, Hairgrove said. He defended Zachary's apparent lack of regret after the shooting by contending that the defendant believed firmly in his own mind that he was justified in taking Crawford's life, and that if he had not done so, Crawford would have taken his.

ARMY AVIATORS FINISH FLIGHT ACROSS COUNTRY

Landed at Rockwell
Field, San Diego,
Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 3.—All distance records for a non-stop airplane flight were smashed today by Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelly and John A. MacReady, who flew here from Hempstead, New York, in 26 hours, 50 minutes 48.25 seconds, official time. The distance covered was approximately 2625 miles, but the fliers average speed was more than 100 miles an hour because they did not follow an exact airline.

The transcontinental airmen received a warm greeting when they were sighted over the city a few minutes before they landed at Rockwell Field. Airplanes from Rockwell Field and naval planes from the North Island escorted the two lieutenants to the landing field. Whistles of factories and from warships in the harbor also joined in the greeting.

Both aviators were in good physical condition when they landed and after being greeted by army officials were taken to the officers' quarters.

The historic flight of the mighty army monoplane began at Hempstead, New York, with Kelly at the wheel. The T-2 cleared the hangars at the end of the flying field by inches, nosed up for elevation and turned its blunt nose toward Rockwell Field, its goal.

Roaring westward hour after hour upon the supreme attempt of its historic career the T-2 was awaited in every city, town and village throughout the long line of flight and telegraph instruments during the afternoon and night told of the passing of points hours ahead of the tentative schedule announced by the aviators just before they began the long flight.

Following reports from cities in the east there came a few hours of silence. Then a report from Dayton, Ohio stated the plane had passed at 8:55 eastern standard time. A McCook Field note from the fliers was picked up announcing that they expected to reach San Diego at noon today.

From Dayton to Indianapolis, where the T-2 descended last fall when forced down by motor trouble in a west to east coast flight was accomplished in 55 minutes.

The fliers reached Terra Haute at 7:30 p. m., a distance of nearly 1,000 miles. The plane is reported to have been making an average time of about 100 miles an hour.

Another period of silence was followed by a report from St. Louis that the T-2 had passed over the city at 9:15. Then the mist to the westward swallowed up the giant craft and the terrific all night battle began.

The only report received from a reliable source during the night came from Kansas City which stated that the plane passed at midnight.

The aviators were aided by a brilliant full moon as they left Kansas City on the long flight over the desert country of the west to the Pacific coast.

The first report received today from the aviators was in New Mexico. Later a report was received that they were seen over Arizona cities and then El Centro, California filed the word that the aviators had passed over there at 11:23 a. m., flying at from 4,000 to 5,000 feet elevation.

Many Miles Covered.
New York, N. Y., May 3.—The was estimated at between 2700 and 2800 miles by Major W. H. Weaver, commander of the Mitchell Field, tonight. The fliers averaged better than 100 miles an hour on their trip, he said.

Would Prohibit U.S. Ships Serving Liquor

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Representative Graham of Illinois, a candidate for republican leadership in the next house, announced today that as soon as congress convenes in December he would introduce a bill to prohibit American ships from carrying and serving liquor to passengers at any time.

In a formal statement he discussed the supreme court's decision which held there is no legal bar to domestic vessels carrying liquor when outside American territorial waters. Commenting on the park of the decision which said congress, if it saw fit, could extend the ban, so far as American ships are concerned to the high seas he declared:

"There is no reason why congress should not want to, and I shall introduce a bill to accomplish the purpose in the first session of the 68th congress when it meets in December. If we are going to be dry, let's be dry. I can sense in being dry for three miles and not for 3,000. So long as the 18th Amendment is valid, let's not play at its enforcement."

"One of the principal arguments used by the man on the street is that the poor man is deprived of his glass of beer by prohibition, while the rich man goes to his stock collar, patronizes a high priced bootlegger or gets his liquor in sea voyages, all means entirely beyond the reach of plain people. Let the law be applied on the high seas as far as it will reach. Inside the three mile limit the Volstead act ought to be enforced against everybody, citizens, foreigners and diplomats."

Mr. Graham referred tersely to the right of foreign ambassadors to carry liquor for their own use, a privilege which he said is not distributed by the supreme court decision.

"This practice," said Mr. Graham, "of bringing a lot of booze into the embassies here is unnecessary and illegal and ought to be stopped."

Moreover the witness testified that while he was connected with the companies he used his very best efforts to carry out the contracts. He stated also that Charles W. Morse had repeatedly voiced a desire to use every effort to help the government and stated his willingness to "make any financial sacrifice" in seeing that the government got ships to aid in carrying on the war.

FIRST POSTMISTRESS IN U. S. IS DEAD

(By The Associated Press)
MONTREAL, May 3.—Mrs. Anna Marie Chetlain, said to have been the first woman postmistress in the United States, died today. She was 87 years old and had lived here 25 years.

Mrs. Chetlain, whose first husband, Colonel Melancthon Smith, was killed at Vicksburg, was born in Acton, Mass. She was named postmistress of Rickford, Ill., by Abraham Lincoln in recognition of Colonel Smith's career. It was said, and resigned to marry General Chetlain, who raised the first contingent of negro troops to fight on the northern side.

General Chetlain was later appointed collector of customs at Salt Lake City and consul general at Brussels, Belgium. He died in Chicago in 1914.

LOBBYISTS WERE CRITICISED IN HOUSE THURSDAY

John M. Glenn and F.
Scott McBride Scored
by Speakers

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 3.—Two Chicagoans who are frequently present in Springfield during sessions of the general assembly, came in for sharp criticism on the house floor today. They were John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and F. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the anti-saloon league.

Mr. Glenn's recent letter to members of his association advising them to request their senators and representatives to pack their grips and return home caused the adverse comment. The secretary declared that the legislature is menacing the interests of the manufacturers, and that it is enacting no constructive legislation.

Rep. Castle, Republican, Barrington, chairman of the judiciary committee, announced receipt of three identical telegrams asking him to use his influence for an early adjournment. He said he had learned that all of the telegrams were written by Glenn and signed by three other men. Mr. Glenn's displeasure, he asserted, had been incurred because the assembly passed this bill taxing non-par value stock, and the senate defeated the state police bill while the house approved the women's eight hour day measure.

"It is my opinion that the police bill lost because of the bungling support given it by Mr. Glenn," he continued. "It would have won in the senate and been before this house today had it not been for Glenn's support. I hope that the Illinois Manufacturers' association will soon realize that he is more of a liability than an asset." He denied that constructive legislation is lacking here.

Applause from both sides of the chamber followed the judiciary chairman's remarks.

Representative Hyatt, Democrat, Quincy, likewise denounced Mr. Glenn and also Mr. McBride. He declared he was not going to take dictation in legislative matters from any lobbyist.

Mr. McBride was in the gallery during this criticism, but Mr. Glenn was not.

Legislators Aroused
Numerous legislators are aroused over the Glenn proposal for an early adjournment and are outspoken in denouncing it. Some have drafted a resolution barring the association secretary from the house galleries and committee meetings but whether they will introduce it remains to be seen.

Senator Hanson, Republican, Bloomington, introduced a bill today to appropriate $250,000 for a gymnasium at the Illinois State Normal school.

The house concurred in the senate joint resolution requesting that the University of Illinois give the name of "Hopkins Memorial Hall" to the main agricultural building being erected.

A joint resolution requesting Congress to prescribe more definitely the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission to avoid conflicts between the commission and various state commerce commissions as to the line between interstate and intrastate business was introduced by Senator Lantz, Republican, Congerville, and referred to the executive committee.

Former Senator Beveridge of Indiana visited the house and made a few remarks.

The house judiciary committee this afternoon voted to report favorably the bill of Representative Rice, Democrat, Lewistown, giving to the attorney general for prohibition enforcement, money received from fines for liquor violations, if the latter are made possible by the official's instructions. All other fines shall be paid into the county treasury.

FRENCH REPLY TO GERMAN OFFER IS TERSE DOCUMENT

Is Unequivocal Refusal to Chancellor Cuno's Proposals—Note is Said in No Way to Take Form of Counter Proposition—Note
Leaves No Doubt as to French Intention

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, May 3.—The French reply to the German reparations offer is a short, terse document, the text of which went forward to Brussels this evening. It is an unequivocal refusal of Chancellor Cuno's proposals. Tho the nature of the contents has not been disclosed officially, it can be asserted that the note in no way takes the form of a counter-proposition.

Premier Poincare, M. DeLasteysie, M. LeTrocquer, M. Reibel and M. Barthou collaborated in drawing up the reply. All agreed that by setting forth a reparation plan France would only fall into a time-worn German trap, whereby Germany, they believe, was seeking to induce her opponents to make concessions, without giving any promises herself.

It is understood the note begins by declaring the impossibility of using the German note as a basis for negotiations.

The note leaves no doubt regarding France's determination not to brook mediation, but to recover her due.

In addition to criticizing point by point Chancellor Cuno's proposals thereby reaffirms the essential principles of French policy with regard to reparations first of all and declares that there can be no negotiations with Germany until the resistance in the Ruhr organized by the Berlin government is stopped.

The Belgian government, which was consulted Monday, fully shares this view. The note makes clear that evacuation of the Ruhr will be in proportion to the fulfillment by Germany of her obligations.

Finally the reply states that the schedule of payments of May 6, 1921, to which Germany subscribed is the only basis of discussion which France will admit.

POSITIVE STAND
TO BE TAKEN ON NARCOTICS BY U. S.

Secretary Hughes Issued
Statement Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—The United States will take the position at the meeting this month of the Opium Advisory Committee of the league of nations at Geneva, Secretary Hughes declared in an address tonight before the National Anti-Narcotic Association, headed by Rexford L. Holmes, a Washington church worker, that the use of narcotic drugs for other than medicinal and scientific purposes is illegitimate.

Curtailment of the production of opium and cocaine leaves in line with the resolution adopted by congress at the last session calling upon the president to urge such restrictions upon foreign governments. Mr. Hughes added also would be advocated by the American delegation which has been appointed to represent the United States government at the Geneva meeting of a "consultative" capacity.

RELATIVES ARE BEING SOUGHT IN LINCOLN MYSTERY

Wife and Brother-in-Law of Missing Man
are Wanted

(By The Associated Press)
AURORA, Ill., May 3.—Descriptions of Mrs. Lina Shoup Lincoln and Byron Shoup, wife and brother-in-law of the missing Warren J. Lincoln, with instructions for their arrest and retention as material witnesses will be sent broadcast thru surrounding states immediately. Police Chief Michels announced tonight.

After conferring with Assistant State's Attorney Bruce Amell, Chief Michels also said that Amell was prepared to go before the Kane county board of supervisors and ask that a reward of $1,000 be offered for "the apprehension and arrest of the murderer or murderers of Warren J. Lincoln."

In speaking of his efforts to locate the wife and brother-in-law of Lincoln, who has been missing since Sunday night and for whose body authorities have searched fruitlessly, Chief Michels said no one could be charged with a crime in connection with the disappearance because there is no positive proof a murder has been committed.

Sheriff W. E. Orr, plainly skeptical that a murder had been committed said he still is unconvinced that Lincoln is not living. His belief was strengthened today by the statement of Mrs. John Hartman of Aurora who said a man who said he lived in the first house off Lake Street on the old Indian Trail answered her advertisement for an ice cream stand. He wanted to sell, she said, because he was going to California within a few days. Lincoln lives in the first house off Lake Street on the Old Indian Trail and an outbuilding answering the description given at the time stands within a few yards of the house from which he disappeared so mysteriously.

In wording the reward, Chief Michels insisted that the words "murderer or murderers" be inserted so that payment would not be made if Lincoln is still alive. Lincoln's son, John, has advised that his father is alive and that his captors spirited him away for revenge.

Chief Michels and Sheriff Orr have gone repeatedly over the ground from the open window beside Lincoln's bed, with its blood smeared sill, to the nearby green house where they have examined the blood stains on a flower bed and then along the old trail to the drainage system in a nearby field from which were dragged Lincoln's bloody night shirt and cap and a woman's glove, hoping to find some new clue but always without result.

Aurora citizens are beginning to shake their heads and predict that this will be added to Keweenaw's list of unsolved mysteries.

A THOUGHT

Great men are not always wise, neither do the aged understand judgment.—Job 32:9.

MAN'S unhappiness, as I construe, comes of his greatness; it is because there is an infinite in him, which with all his cunning he cannot quite bury under the finite.—Carlyle.

The young woman who stole a diamond ring and swallowed it couldn't fool the X-ray machine. Scouts and spies of earlier years who swallowed the written measures they carried rather than be detected wouldn't have much chance in these modern days.

The automotive men have tackled a big project in appointing a committee that hopes to develop some plan for solving the housing situation in Jacksonville. There is no doubt but that the lack of houses is interfering with the growth of the city. How houses can be built at this time and return a fair interest on the money is a question worth settling.

Jacksonville will be honored today by the presence of former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indianapolis. Senator Beveridge has been active in public life for more than 20 years and his record at the national capital entitles him to the reputation he has of a statesman with high ideals.

In recent years he has been equally prominent in literary work and as a public man.

A PRODUCTION BOOM

We are beginning to discover the difference between our present economic conditions and those of 1919 and 1920 says the Galesburg Register. Back then we had a prosperity boom which was known principally as a big profits boom. Now we have a production boom without the big profits. Counting everything the production boom may be much better than the particular variety of boom which was abroad in the land in 1919 and 1920—provided the production can be kept up. When farms are raising good crops, when factories are turning out good products rapidly, when men and women are busy in construction work, and when work is here for everybody who wants to work—economic conditions are not in a bad way. Money isn't growing on trees like it did for a time during the previous boom, but there is enough to go around.

THE FUTURE OF THE RACE

Considerable interest has been aroused throughout the country by the recent announcement that Herbert Hoover has accepted the presidency of the American Child Health Association, and that the support of the great organization of mercy, the American Relief Administration, which for the past eight years has been ministering to the stricken peoples of Europe, will be behind this new body.

The Association is a merger of the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America, two agencies which have done splendid work among the children of America over a period of years, and their possibilities in this new

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM
A REGULAR GIRL

By Berton Braley

SAY, what do you mean by a Regular Girl?
Well, that's a bit puzzling to state.
Her hair has, perhaps, an irregular curl
Or maybe it's perfectly straight;
And maybe she's pretty and maybe she's not,
And maybe she's stately or short;
But somehow or other you always can spot
A girl who's the regular sort.

THERE'S always a regular feminine charm
To all of her regular ways,
There's purity, too, which no evil can harm,
There's honor and truth in her gaze;
But there's an irregular whimsical twist
To some of her thoughts and her acts,
Which makes her exceedingly hard to resist,
For mystery always attracts.

SHE'S eager and joyous and vivid and smart,
She's healthy and wholesome and sweet,
Her Regular smile gives each masculine heart
A slightly irregular beat;
A Regular Pal you can bank on for life
With faith no hard luck can dispel,
And—a Regular Girl makes a Regular Wife
And a Regular Mother as well.

(Copyright, 1923, NEA SERVICE, Inc.)

Grouping with the added strength of men like Hoover and his associates, are unlimited.

The importance of this work can not be disputed. A nation has no more valuable asset than its children, and any movement designed to improve their health and thus make them into better men and women is a decided step forward.

The experiment will be watched with interest by all Americans, and particularly the fathers and mothers of the country, who will want to take a most active part in it.

PLAY AND PLAYERS

Walter Camp, of the justly famous "daily dozen," is a booster for play and playgrounds. He includes in play "winter sports, folk games, hikes, summer recreation and all the various forms of spare-time activities that make for physical fitness, joyous fun and wholesome diversion." He names amateur dramatics, choral singing and handicraft, because they bring new interests into people's lives.

Some of the tangible results of the neighborhood playground are to be found in decreased juvenile delinquency and decreased street accidents. The neighborhood playground is a good business proposition also, for it attracts home-seekers and helps to maintain community morals.

The big cities need playgrounds more than rural districts and small towns only because they have more children to care for. But a time should come when every village, town and city has its recognized play places and uses them regularly and wholeheartedly. A wholesome play life means about as much to a community as its school system or its churches. "All work and no play" makes a dull community.

THE BUSINESS CYCLE

The report of the national business cycle committee which has been studying the reasons for the alternations of prosperity and depression has been made.

According to reports the committee clearly defined the economic phenomena which have to do with booms and slumps. This information can be used by the merchant in connection with current information and statistics and may enable him to avoid some of the mistakes which bring disaster.

One of the chief points made is the danger of continued price-raising when production has reached 100 per cent. There also are recommendations for organized effort in flush periods to control and limit public expenditure for construction and for private interests in similar periods to be guided by the construction situation.

Of course it is one thing to know the causes and another to secure the cooperation which means the cure for economic troubles. But as in diseases, the first step toward cure is the isolation of the germ, and the committee seems to have made progress in this direction.

A RAT'S TALE

(N. E. A.)

You read "Pigs Is Pigs," of course, and laughed. Here's a true case, something along the same line. The late Lord Moulton was a high executive of the British government during the war. His son publishes a book about the old man's career, and says that after he retired from public life he used to amuse himself by "re-reading some of the more glaring instances of the amount of work which could be devoted to the most trivial matters."

Lord Moulton sat and hawed for hours over the British official documents known as the Great Rat Correspondence.

The total of these documents looks like a report by one of our Congressional investigating committees. A few of them give you the general idea. First sample:

With reference to B. M. Q. M. G. 7, 1882, twelve special rats were obtained for the Chemical Shell Store, and authority is now requested please for an expenditure of 3 pence per week per rat for maintenance, as besides being kept alive they must always be in good condition to satisfactorily serve the purpose for which they were provided.

After passing thru various hands and accumulating a raft of departmental comments, this official answer was received:

No objection to necessary expenditure within 3 pence a week a rat. We have no information as to cost, but should have thought it might be less. You no doubt will take steps to see that the establishment is not unduly increased.

As months slipped by and the great war raged, correspondence concerning the rats kept piling up, increasingly more complicated. As for instance, this prize specimen:

Noted, 12 rats were originally purchased, but the stock shortly increased to 34, of which 6 were sent to a Trench Warfare Filling Factory and 3 destroyed, leaving a total of 25. In view of the Chemical Shell store at Gatwick shortly opening, it would be a pity to destroy these rats, as at least a dozen will be required for Gatwick. It is therefore considered necessary to keep a stock of 30 rats at Woolwich and Gatwick, i. e., 18 Woolwich (including reserve of 6) and 12 at Gatwick. Any surplus above this number will be sold, if possible, and profit credited to the Rat Fund, or else destroyed. Authority is requested for the above establishment to be maintained.

It cost England thousands of dollars to keep track of these rats. The correspondence is typical of the procrastination and stupidity of our own Red Tape Worms in Washington. Since most governmental matters are handled in the same spirit in most countries, governmental delay and bone-headedness are proverbial.

However, you find the same thing in many large corporations where "system" and "efficiency" have accumulated until the corporation resembles a cat after playing with two miles of yarn. And, for that matter, most of us don't have to go outside our personal lives to find "glaring instances of the amount of work which can be devoted to the most trivial matters."

FARRELL STATE BANK

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT IN

assailed Crawford's statement as to the lack of eye witnesses and cited testimony of Charles Duffer who yesterday told that he had watched the defendant and his victim from the time they met in the road and that he did not see Crawford lay hands on Zachary.

Crawford lay hands on Zachary.

Wright opened argument.

Luther Crawford could not appear here to tell his story of that fatal day. His body lies out in that little country cemetery, but witnesses on the stand in this court room told you, you jurors what Crawford said while on his death bed. "I begged the old man not to shoot me any more." Was it in self-defense Samuel T. Zachary followed up his victim and shot him twice while he was laying face down in the mud and slime in a ditch at the side of the road? Was that necessary for the protection of Zachary's life? You jurors know that it was not.

In an hour's argument crowded with statements of this character, Attorney Walter W. Wright of Jacksonville, summed up the evidence against Zachary here this morning. The special prosecuting attorney cited reasons after reasons as proof that Zachary took the life of Crawford needlessly, and that his act was premeditated. Mr. Wright opened the argument for the state.

Only a few witnesses were heard after court convened at 8 o'clock this morning, and their testimony was in regard to the character of the defendant and was unimportant. After a short recess Judge Smith called for the state to present its case to the jury.

"Nothing more can be said of the case," Wright told the jurors. "You must weigh the facts and evidence and decide the innocence or guilt of this defendant. Luther Crawford's life was just as dear to him as to this man. Luther Crawford was just as dear to his family as this man is to his family. Through your verdict you cannot bring back Crawford's life, but you can cause Samuel Zachary to pay the rightful penalty for his act."

Wright explained to the jury that the law is not seeking vengeance but that it is seeking justice. The people of the State of Illinois should receive the same consideration in the shooting as the defendant himself. Wright impressed upon the jurors that when citizens of a nation repeatedly fail to do their duty to society, there is a tendency for the people to take the law into their own hands and anarchy follows.

"The only way the law can protect the innocents is by punishing the guilty," the prosecutor said. He discussed Zachary's apparent lack of remorse while on the witness stand and previously, and Crawford's normal state of mind on the afternoon he was slain.

Charles Duffer's testimony that he saw Crawford and Zachary meet in the road on the afternoon of Nov. 10, 1921, and that Crawford did not at any time lay hands on the older man, was given prominence by Wright in his arguments.

"Zachary told a story I couldn't believe," Wright said. "He testified that Crawford grabbed him by the neck and then struck and choked him. Who has the greater interest in the outcome of this case? Sam Zachary, the defendant, or Charles Duffer, a disinterested witness? Wright's argument to the jury was strong.

A Plea for Leniency

J. M. Riggs of this city, who has been associated with the defense, made the first argument for Zachary. Although Mr. Riggs is well passed the four score mile stone of life, he has the vitality of a much younger man, and made a fiery resume of the evidence in favor of Mr. Zachary.

"Luther Crawford did not go down that road from his home to meet Mr. Zachary for nothing," Mr. Riggs said. "He was going down there to make him apologize for some sort of a statement. He went to meet this defendant for the purpose of getting an apology or revenge."

"The testimony of Reuben Raines proves that Crawford had harbored an ill feeling against this defendant, and that he said 'If I catch Sam Zachary in the right place I'll walk him get down on his knees to me or kill him.'"

Leniency for Zachary was heard in the latter part of Attorney Riggs' talk. If so, he was guilty of a crime, the lawyer said, he has few years to live and is in feeble health. These facts should be taken into consideration in bringing in a verdict.

Attacked Defense Arguments.
It was 11:45 o'clock when Mr. Riggs finished his argument. State Attorney L. A. Mehrhoff of Scott county took the floor as the second representative of the people. Despite the brief time in which he was given before noon adjournment, Mr. Mehrhoff flayed three of the defense's arguments.

Mehrhoft attempted to tear down any belief that Crawford was drinking and quarrelsome on the afternoon he was shot. "The state's attorney piled the testimony of numerous state witnesses who said Crawford was not drinking against the one witness of the defense who said he smelled liquor on the deceased breath."

The testimony of Reuben Raines that he heard Crawford threaten to kill Zachary was also given attention by Mehrhoff. Mehrhoff who reminded the jurors that Raines failed to state even the day, month or year in which this statement was supposed to have been uttered and that he could not remember other facts in connection with the alleged statement on the part of Crawford.

Zachary's personal account of self-defense was then assailed.

Before the attorneys entered upon their argument, four rebuttal witnesses were placed on the stand by the state in effort to further prove that Zachary's reputation in his home community was not good.

Dial Duke testified he had known the defendant for seven years and that Zachary's reputation was bad. During cross examination Duke said that he had not been on good terms with Zachary. Frank Dannabarger, G. J. Dowell, Richard R. Wood and Walter A. Davenport were other character witnesses heard during the close of the trial.

Explained Aged Man's Act

In his opening argument Attorney W. T. Wilson reviewed testimony regarding the defendant's mental and physical condition. He laid stress upon the testimony of Dr. A. H. Dollear, which was to the fact that a man in Zachary's condition would not possess the same judgment and mental stability as a man in perfect health.

Mr. Wilson pointed out the fact that Zachary held no grudge against the deceased, and that on the afternoon of the shooting Zachary had no idea of what Crawford wanted to see him about. Coupled with the suddenness of the alleged attack by Crawford, the attorney explained the aged man's reaction against his foe.

Attorney Wilson presented a series of compelling facts to the jury and in a forceful manner brought his part in the battle to secure an acquittal for the defendant.

SALEM LADIES AID
HAD MEETING THURSDAY

The Ladies' Aid society of Salem M. E. church east of the city held a regular meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Thompson. Most of the members were present together with several guests, the company numbered about fifty altogether.

The meeting opened with the Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Frank Green, the president. Prayer was then offered by Mrs. Ledford, after which came the reports of the secretary and treasurer. The paper of the afternoon was presented by Mrs. Phillips, whose theme was "Making the Neighborhood Christian." This was followed by a general discussion and the meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

At the business session plans were made for the holding of a market some time this month, the date to be decided upon later. One new member was taken in at the meeting yesterday. During the social hour which came after the program, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Thompson.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

MEETS AT WOODSON

The regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of Unity Presbyterian church at Woodson was held Thursday afternoon at the church, with Mrs. L. P. Fisher as the program leader. The general theme was "The Negro of America," and leaflets were read by Mrs. Jessie Henry, Mrs. J. H. Shirley and Mrs. R. R. Jones.

The attendance was not as large as is sometimes true at the meetings of the society, but the program was an interesting one. It was followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served by the social committee.

ACTIVE DEMAND FOR BUILDING MATERIALS

According to a local lumber dealer, the demand for building materials in Jacksonville shows quite an increase over last spring.
Among the farmers, however, the demand has not been much greater than usual, as the ma-repairs, with very few new buildings being erected.

AUTOMOTIVE DEALERS CENEROUS WITH CARS

Members Offer Transportation
Facilities for Several Occasions—
Committee Named to Work on Housing Plan

At the regular meeting of the Automotive Dealers association last night at the Dunlap hotel it was unanimously agreed that its members offer the use of automobiles to old soldiers on Decoration Day to take them to and from the various meetings which will be held at that time and to enable them to participate in the parade.

It was also agreed that the members would furnish cars to the committee in charge of transportation during the great Patriotic Jubilee to be held in Jacksonville June 14, 15 and 16, the cars to be used for taking noted guests to and from trains, about the city and in the parade June 15.

It is requested that the committee having these events in charge notify the automobile dealers as to the hour cars will be needed and where. Mr. Berger asked also that the members of the association furnish cars to assist in taking children to a big county Sunday school picnic that is being arranged for an early date.

The matter of the great crying need for more homes in Jacksonville was brought before the meeting and thoroughly discussed.
It was brought out that there must be homes erected that can be rented at moderate rates commensurate with wages earned, and that can be sold on the easy payment plan at low rates of interest to those wishing to buy. Mention was made of many families that would like to move to Jacksonville if places to live could be found; that some persons now boarding were becoming dissatisfied with conditions and planning to move away and that city

PROTEST FREIGHT RATES ON COAL AT COMMERCE HEARING

Witnesses Say Rates from Illinois Are Discriminatory

(By The Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 3.—Freight rates on coal from Southern Illinois fields are the same to a group of cities which are approximately 300 miles apart according to testimony presented at a hearing before interstate commerce commission representatives here today. This was testified to during the hearing on a complaint filed by the Sioux City, Iowa, chamber of commerce against railroads serving it, that rates on coal to that city are discriminatory.

This case follows a similar one filed by the Northwest coal dock operators and three more will be heard during sessions of the commission hearings in Minneapolis. The wide range of the single rate from southern Illinois was brought out during the cross examination of A. S. Boden of the Sioux City chamber of commerce after he had said that rates on coal to Omaha, Sioux City and other Iowa points were not based on the number of miles the coal was hauled.

It developed during the questioning that the rates on coal from a point seven miles north of Oskaloosa, Iowa, to St. Paul on coal from southern Illinois was the same. The distance from Oskaloosa to St. Paul is approximately 300 miles. St. Paul also, is approximately twice as far from the southern Illinois point as Oskaloosa. The rate on coal from Southern Illinois to Sioux City is approximately one cent a mile more than to Omaha and Mr. Boden said this also was unfair. The rates to Sioux City from the southwest as compared with Omaha were out of line he stated.

J. L. Browne, of Sioux City, asked that the freight rates from the docks to Sioux City be lowered on the ground that they were too high in comparison with other rates. It is the present rate from the docks to the Twin Cities that is being attacked by the coal dock operators. Earlier in the day J. W. Goodman appeared on behalf of the commercial associations of Grand Forks and Fargo, N. D., and the North Dakota farmers' grain dealers' associations to show that the rates from the head of the lakes to North Dakota points were discriminatory.

SHARP BREAK COMES IN SUGAR

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 3.—On the heels of the sugar boycott by women in New York and scores of other communities thruout the country, a sharp break in futures amounting at the close from 45 to 55 points, occurred today. A reduction in the price of refined sugar from 10 to 23 cents was announced by one large refiner.

The break in sugar futures today was attributed to the lower prices for refined sugar and led to increased offerings by operators in the spot market with the result that a further decline occurred in Cuban. Sales were recorded at six cents, cost and freight, representing an overnight drop of 1c and a decline of fully 3c from the recent high level. Later offerings were made at 5 1/2c cost and freight, without finding buyers.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The expected showdown between Michigan's grand jury investigation of Benjamin Purnell's House of David and Walter M. Nelson, Detroit attorney and legal neighbor of the colony, was postponed today when Nelson failed to appear before Judge Harry Dingeman, the one man grand jury.

Judge Dingeman ordered Nelson to appear at 9 o'clock this morning and show cause why he should not either answer questions or go to jail for contempt. Hours passed and the Detroit attorney did not appear. At 2 o'clock Judge Dingeman, after waiting five hours, left for Detroit. Nelson was the attorney for the Hansel family in the successful suit against Purnell's colony in the federal court at Grand Rapids last month, and also represents two former girl members of the cult who are suing Purnell for $100,000 each, alleging criminal mistreatment. He likewise is being sued by the colony for $150,000 on a slander charge growing out of the girl's suits. Judge Dingeman will re-open investigation here Monday, and if Nelson does not appear then with an explanation for his absence, a warrant will be issued for his arrest, state officials said today.

SEVEN DEATH TOLL IN COLORADO WRECK

(By The Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 3.—Seven persons dead and 37 injured, some probably fatally, was the toll reported tonight as the result of the wreck late last night of Denver and Rio Grande Western passenger train No. 2, which overturned while rounding a curve in the wild mountain country near Woodside, Utah.

Arthur Hokey, a longshoreman from Great Lakes, Illinois, was among those killed. Paul Rigenberg of Shaldahl, Iowa, was cut and bruised and James Rennekel of Hanson, Iowa, suffered serious bruises. Hurling forward after the two locomotives had plunged off the tracks, the smoking car and baggage car and day coach piled up in wreckage atop the two engines and the work of relief and rescue started immediately as the cries of the injured reached those in the rear cars who were awakened from their sleep.

The injured were brought to Salt Lake and little hope was held by physicians for the recovery of four of them. Officials of the railroad tonight said the cause of the wreck was unknown.

A list of the seriously injured as given out by hospital physicians tonight included Mrs. Paul Rigenberg of Shaldahl, Iowa, whose ribs were fractured.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE GIVEN O. K.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 3.—Official designation as a contract market under the grain futures act was received from the department of agriculture today by the Chicago board of trade, which has complied with all requirements of the new law. The contract market will go into effect tomorrow.

This action of the department of agriculture was the final step incident to putting the law into effect. It means that the futures market will continue as usual for hedging and for speculative trade. Many grain trade leaders anticipate greater use of the futures market under government supervision. "Now that this association is a contract market, we are consequently desirous of giving fullest cooperation to the government in the enforcement of the law," said President John J. Stream. "We want to make the law serve the purpose for which it was intended. It is to be hoped that the same sincere cooperation is shown by all branches of agriculture and allied interests. Only such cooperation will make possible a fair test of the law's effectiveness."

STATE'S ATTORNEY CROWE IS PROBING FRESHMAN'S DEATH

Many Students Examined in Death of Leighton Mount

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 3.—More than a score of students, former students and one official of Northwestern University were questioned at the office of Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, tonight in an effort to solve the mystery surrounding the finding Monday of the skeleton of Leighton Mount, a student at the University who disappeared after a class rush in September.

Following the demand of the University trustees and young Mount's parents for a grand jury investigation subpoenas were issued for several persons while some thirty students were sent by the university authorities to the state's attorney's office for questioning, their examination continuing until nearly midnight in preparation for the resumption of the inquest tomorrow morning. Subpoenas were issued for the following:

Fred Scott, Jr., a student at the time Mount vanished and the nephew of Walter Dill Scott, president of the university. Arthur Persinger, a classmate of Mount's who was said to have been hauled to his post in the lake during the hazing. Edward Thomas and Harry Brown who released Persinger. John Huxable, father-in-law of Thomas. Frederick Kerr, registrar at the university. John Tomlinson, son of a vice-president of an Evanston bank and a student, who said he saw Mount near the pier where his body was found. Harry and Thomas Cook, students, friends of Mount. William A. Dyce, business manager of the university. Alex. Lonnequist, Evanston real estate dealer and former father-in-law of Fred Scott. "We are going to clean up in this investigation and if necessary, we'll subpoena every student at Northwestern and hold them all summer," said Thomas Padden, assistant state's attorney in charge of the inquiry.

Thomas and Brown testified that they had untied Persinger from the pier where he had been left by classmates the night Mount disappeared. Persinger was a sophomore at the time and Mount a freshman. "We saw a red canoe put out to the piling late that night," they said. Two men were paddling and another was lying bound in the bottom of the craft. "When they reached the piling they tied the third to it, rowed back and departed in an automobile." Going out to investigate they said they found Persinger bound hand and foot and tied to the piling. "Persinger lay four feet from the water and there was not a ripple on the lake," one of the witnesses said. "But had a north-east squall come up he would have been drowned in a matter of minutes, although he was in no danger at the moment of rescue."

Several students have testified that they saw Mount as he was starting for home from the campus several hours after Persinger had been rescued and the police have expressed the belief that he was captured by upper classmen and hauled in retaliation for the seizure of Persinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson were over to this city from Little Indian yesterday on a business trip. S. S. Wright of Bloomington transacted business in Jacksonville Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Sarff of Havana were business callers yesterday.

WILLING WORKERS OF GRACE CHAPEL MEET

The Willing Workers of Grace Chapel held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. G. Dinwiddie northwest of the city. Mrs. Guy McFadden was the assistant hostess. There were about thirty-five members and guests present and an interesting Mother's Day program was carried out.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Harry Ogle, the president in the chair. A reading, "What Mother Gives," was given by Miss Vina Logan. This was followed by instrumental music by Miss Helen Dinwiddie. Next came a reading by Mrs. Ella Wisewell, "Love Never Falters."

The theme of a reading by Mrs. Tuttle was "Wise Mothers," and this was followed by the closing number, a duet by Misses Goldie and Mary Brainer.

The members and their guests spent a very pleasant social hour following the program, and at this time refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be on Thursday, June 7, with Misses May and Minnie McFadden.

Champaign, Ill.—"Ever since I developed into womanhood I have been troubled with functional disturbances and fainting spells. I was under a physician's care, but no medicine I took seemed to do me any good. A friend, who had gone through the same experience as myself and had found this help by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, urged me to try it. I tried it and to my great delight the Prescription brought about a wonderful change, every organ functioning correctly. I can speak in the highest praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. S. W. Knott, 1212 N. Market St.

Ed: "How?"

Milton: "She'll see the doctor going to your house."

Bill Knew What He Meant
"Bill," said a sailor, looking up from his writing, "do you spell 'sense' with a 'c' or an 's'?"

"That depends," replied his educated friend. "Do you refer to money or brains?"

"Aw, I don't mean either of them two," was the reply. "What I want to say is, 'I ain't seen him sense'."

Edmond: "Great! I am half-back on the football team, and all the way back in my studies."

CLASS PLANTED BOX ALDER AND NOT OAK

Solemn Ceremonies of I. C. Seniors Now Painful Memory — Class Members Will Not Sit Beneath Favorite Oak and Dream of College Days.

A certain Revolutionary War general who transferred his military operations from the north to the south was warned to beware that his northern laurels did not turn to southern willows. The senior class of Illinois College were not warned that their memorial oak might prove to be a box alder—but such has been the case.

Recently the members of the class made a trip to the woods and with much labor and solemnity they dug up what they supposed was an oak. The tree was brought to President Rammelkamp's front yard and planted, with all the ceremony befitting such an occasion. Members of the faculty delivered earnest orations at the exercises, and the class felt profoundly on the subject. The members went from the place feeling that some day when they had made their mark in the great world, they would return and, sitting in the shade of the memorial oak, recall fond memories of college days.

However, the trip to the woods was made at dusk, and the tree was planted in the evening. Somehow or other, the botany students in the class did not seem to be familiar with the feel of the box alder or the oak, and the results were rather disconcerting. The memorial tree, it is understood, is now reposing in a horizontal position somewhere in the road near the president's house.

Do you know Baseball?

Questions

ONE—Is it possible to make a substitution for a base runner, and still have the original player remain in the game?
TWO—In case of rain or muddy field, who is the sole judge as to whether or not the game should be started?
THREE—In case a game is stopped by the umpire, because of rain, is there any time limit as to when the game can be resumed?
FOUR—What happens when the batter strikes at an illegally pitched ball?
FIVE—Is it necessary that the team at the bat make an appeal for the calling of a balk?

Answers

ONE—Only by consent of the captain of the other team.
TWO—The manager or captain of the home team is the sole judge as to the fitness of the field for starting play.
THREE—The time limit formerly was 30 minutes. Now under the new ruling the umpire can wait as long as he sees fit.
FOUR—It counts for a strike or whatever may follow.
FIVE—A balk rests entirely with the judgment of the umpire. There is no necessity or reason for an appeal, although the team at bat often raises the claim.

ERRORS GIVE RED SOX WIN OVER ATHLETICS

BOSTON, May 3.—Errors by Galloway and Hall, followed by Burns' single gave Boston two runs in the third, enabling the home team to win from Philadelphia, 3 to 1 today. Hasty allowed only 7 hits.

Philadelphia . . . 000 000 100—1 8 2
Boston . . . 002 010 00x—3 7 1

ILLINI-MICHIGAN GAME NEXT WEEK

URBANA, Ill.—When Illinois and Michigan play baseball on Illinois field Saturday, May 12, it is predicted that attendance records will be smashed again.

Last year just 35 less than 10,000 cheered the Illini and Wolverines when they met. This is by far the largest crowd that ever saw a college game in the middle west.

But George Huff believes that there will be even more next week and he is planning to stretch the seating capacity. If it is practical temporary stands may be erected back of the outfield.

There seems to be little doubt that the engagement will be one of the decisive ones in the race for the conference flag. Coach Lundgren's Illini have been champions for two years and have had to nose out Michigan both years.

It looks as if the stage is being set for another great series between the two teams.

Illinois fans from all over this part of the state will drive to Illinois field for the occasion. There is a fair sprinkling of Michigan alumni around the state and many of them are coming. Partisans of both teams will speed down the Dixie Highway from Chicago.

The athletic department has had to answer a number of inquiries regarding seats for the game. None are reserved—it is a case of first come, first served. The game will be called at 2:30 p. m.

Illinois has no more games before it encounters the strong Wolverines. The Illini play at Wisconsin this Saturday and at Chicago on Wednesday of next week. The athletic event on Illinois field this Saturday is the dual track meet with Notre Dame.

KILBANE TO MEET JOHNNY DUNDEE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 3.—Featherweight champion Johnny Kilbane will meet Johnny Dundee within ninety days after his bout with Eugene Criqui, which is scheduled to be held in New York June 27, provided he defeats the French challenger, Tom O'Rourke, promoter of the Kilbane-Criqui match announced here today.

O'Rourke said that Kilbane had signed an agreement calling for a bout with Dundee and that the champion would post a forfeit of $5,000 with the New York state athletic commission as evidence of good faith.

Kilbane has no more games before it encounters the strong Wolverines. The Illini play at Wisconsin this Saturday and at Chicago on Wednesday of next week. The athletic event on Illinois field this Saturday is the dual track meet with Notre Dame.

ILLINOIS LOST TO EUKEKA 14-0

Blue and White Did Well Until Sixth—Then Eureka Scored Nine Runs off of Four Hits.

ILLINOIS College lost to Eureka at Eureka yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 to 0. For five innings the game was a real battle. Eureka scored one in the first and then O'Brien held them scoreless until the fatal sixth in this inning, the first man up singled. Tim followed a base on balls. After that errors and more bases on balls came so fast that the game was lost to Illinois.

Roberts relieved O'Brien in the seventh and held the Eureka team to four runs the remainder of the contest.

The Eureka team is made up of veterans, most of them playing their third or fourth years. Dennis the pitcher is pitching his fifth year for Eureka. It was a case of too much experience for Illinois and in addition the men were unable to hit Dennis' offerings effectively. The score:

WAVING OF M'INNIS MAY COST PENNANT

(By NEA Service)

Waiving on Stuffy McInnis may cost the St. Louis Browns the pennant.

When the Cleveland club inaugurated the policy of rebuilding its team McInnis, a veteran player, did not fit in. Incidentally, McInnis was drawing $14,000 a year for his services.

Having so decided, the Cleveland club asked the seven other clubs of the American League if any of them desired to take McInnis at the waiver price and assume his contract.

Although McInnis is slipping, he is still a great player and has two or three more years of good service ahead. Despite this, every club in the American League passed up the chance to get him. Possibly his fat contract had something to do with it.

Be it known that after he was made a free agent several American League clubs tried to sign him up at a much lower salary.

St. Louis was the club that should have tied him up. It was a question at the time whether or not Sisler would be right. In order to be protected against the possibility that he might not play the Browns should have taken on McInnis.

Instead he was allowed to pass out. Illness now has Sisler out of the lineup and the Browns are experimenting with an outfielder at first base.

Waiving on McInnis seems to have been a costly slip on the part of the Browns' management.

AMERICAN GOLFERS TO BATTLE FOR GOLD CUP

SANDWICH, England, May 3.—The handles of England's finest golf cup were gripped tonight by the hands of two Americans—Francis Ouimet of Boston, and Dr. O. P. Willing of Portland, Oregon—who tomorrow will play an 18-hole match to decide which of them is to have the honor of being declared the winner of the trophy and taking back to the United States with him a reproduction of it.

The trophy is the Royal St. Georges champion grand challenge cup, and either Ouimet or Willing today obtained title to it by tying with low scores of 153 for the 36 holes play which was begun yesterday morning and finished this afternoon. They defeated a field of 120 golfers, among them most of England's best amateurs and ten of America's strongest players. Today was the first time since the gold cup was put up as a trophy in 1884, that it fell into foreign hands.

Ranking next to Ouimet and Willing in the two days of medal play was Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, former United States champion and captain of the American expeditionary golf force with a score of 154. Behind the Americans were all of the English players who tried to keep the cup at home and failed, among them six previous winners of the cup.

Ouimet shot the white ball round the course with soundness and consistency, only occasionally lightened by a stroke of brilliance. Like Gardner, he failed by inches on several holes to sink very long puts but unlike Gardner he never needed three puts to get down.

Three times Ouimet got his first putt in the cup. He played straight down the line on nearly every hole and his approaches were things of beauty. As long as Sandwich talks golf, it probably will talk about his approach to the seventh hole today. It was a wood shot that carried 225 yards and stopped within a foot of the pin. Ouimet got 3 on the hole which measures 434 yards.

Willing could have won the cup outright on the home stretch by sinking an eight foot putt, but the ball stopped 12 inches short. Half an hour later Gardner had a chance to tie with his two colleagues by dropping a six footer into the home hole, but he also missed his chance.

Jess Sweetser, the American champion, simply could not get going. When his drives were good his approaches slipped over the green; when his approaches were excellent, they almost invariably were followed by wicked putts

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Secret Of quick-cooking oats

Now there's a Quick Quaker Oats, Mrs. Housewife. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world. It cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes, and cooks as well as an hour would cook it.

Thin flakes, partly cooked

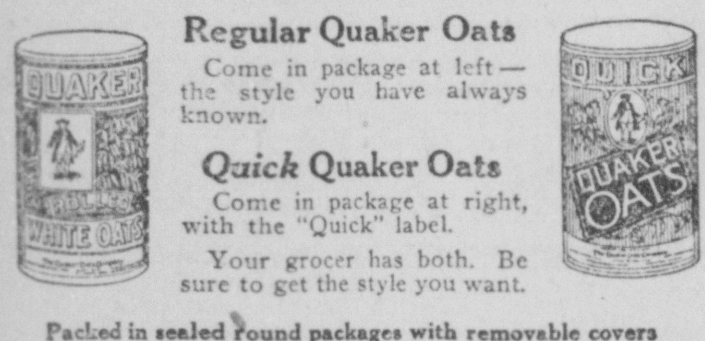

The difference is this: In Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

That same super-flavor

All Quaker Oats are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. All the flavorless grains are discarded. So we get but ten pounds of these cream oats from a bushel.

That's why Quaker Oats dominates. Millions of mothers, all the world over, insist on this extra flavor, so their children will love oats.

That flavor is in Quick Quaker the same as in regular Quaker. So you always get it in the style you like best.

BEVERIDGE COMING TO THIS CITY TODAY

Former Indiana Senator Visiting Lincoln and Douglas Country—Will Make Address at Rotary Club Luncheon.

Jacksonville will have as a guest today former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indianapolis. Senator Beveridge will come to the city from Springfield this morning, in company with Thomas D. Masters, who is escorting him thru the Lincoln-Douglas territory in this part of Illinois so that the senator may acquire intimate knowledge of certain facts that are to be utilized in a book he is now writing.

At noon Senator Beveridge will attend the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club and will make an address there. In view of the fact that the club is to have such a distinguished guest it is expected that there will be an unusually large attendance of the membership.

Early in the afternoon Senator Beveridge, Mr. Masters and Mayor E. E. Crabtree will drive to Winchester and the afternoon will be spent in Scott county. The message that Senator Beveridge is coming was received yesterday by Mayor Crabtree, who immediately asked "if Senator Beveridge would not be willing to address a public meeting of Jacksonville citizens tonight. However, the senator found it necessary to decline this invitation as he must return to Springfield in the early evening.

DR. WELCH SHOWED CUSTOMARY GRIT

Incident at Southern Resort Well Illustrates Spirit of Well Known Manufacturer

The Westfield (N. Y.) Republican in a recent issue carries a picture with this legend beneath it: "Dr. C. E. Welch is no quitter." Then follow several paragraphs taken from a Florida paper which narrates the manner in which Dr. Welch, who is 71 years of age, dived persistently until he had recovered from ocean depths a camera which had slipped from his grasp as he was transferring from a small boat to a launch.

The incident is said to be typical of the spirit that has actuated Dr. Welch thruout the years of his life.

The following account of a lost camera is by Mr. A. E. Phillips to a newspaper wanting a story, but the diver and owner of the camera says there is much "poetic license":

A man past seventy was transferring from a small boat to a launch which was anchored just off the pier. An expensively-cased camera which he was carrying slipped from his pocket. He peered into the depths, but the clear tropical water did not reveal its resting place—lost, treasured instrument of his hobby—lost.

He marked the spot and had the launch put him ashore.

Spectators who thronged the pier, a parcel of Florida's winter tourist crop, thought they saw disappointment, perhaps a fleet-footed trace of despair, on his features as he stepped ashore. Only the few who knew the man noted the decision and determination of his step as he disappeared they knew there would be action.

Expectancy was soon rewarded. Scarce fifteen minutes had passed before a figure clad in a bathing suit made quickly across the pier and plunged quickly into the water. It was so sudden that only those who were expecting something of the sort had time to recognize the camera man until his silver hair and lean shoulders rose to the surface and with a few clean strokes reached the side of the launch which had again been moored at the spot where the camera went down.

He swung himself aboard and for an instant stood poised for a deep dive. The water opened to make way for his slim body almost without a splash, for he knew how. To those on shore it seemed a very long time before he reappeared on the surface and when he came up his hands were empty. Again he mounted the launch and dived deep, and again came up empty handed. Again and again he dived, but without reward.

Spectators on shore saw now that after each dive he lifted himself with increasing difficulty from the water. They noted his years and wished he would quit. But again and again he dived. And still again. He had marked the spot where his treasure lay. He knew it was there. He had faith in his ability to bring it up. He would not quit. He would dive and dive and dive, until he got it, if it took a hundred dives.

And he did! And he didn't take a hundred dives, nor half nor a quarter that number, but it took enough to have licked a quitter. Dr. C. E. Welch, president and founder of the Welch Grape Juice Company was not quitter! And this thing happened this winter in Florida, not a month ago, and Doctor is seventy-one years old!

FRANKLIN SENIORS PRESENTED COMEDY
"A College Town" Was Given Last Night Before Large Audience at Marquette Hall

Marquette hall at Franklin was crowded last night when the Franklin high school senior class presented their play, "A College Town." This is a college farce in three acts and the presentation was such as to win the commendation of all in the audience. The members of the class have worked faithfully to make this production a success and their efforts were not in vain.

Miss Dorothea Sargent arranged the musical setting of the play and her work in this line contributed in no small way to the success of the whole production. Miss Sargent played the piano accompaniment for the song and dance features, of which there were several.

Between the first and second acts Wilbur Seymour gave a vocal number, "In an Old Rose and Lavender Shawl," and Mrs. Wilson Smith of Waverly gave a group of songs between the second and third acts, these musical numbers being well received by the audience. There is a possibility that the play will be given at Waverly at some date in the near future.

ROBINSON TO HEAD STATE STREET S. S.

Is Elected Superintendent at Meeting Wednesday Night—Sunday School is in Flourishing Condition.

Carl Robinson was elected superintendent of the State street Presbyterian Sunday School last night at a delightful meeting of State Street workers. Mr. Robinson has been asked to assume the leadership in view of Mr. T. M. Tomlinson's insistence that he be relieved of the responsibility. While deep appreciation mingled with respect is in the hearts of the State Street workers over Mr. Tomlinson's resignation, there is compensation in the thought that by common agreement Mr. Robinson is the choice of the workers.

Among other items of business it was decided to send Clyde Fitch as the Sunday school delegate to the Petersburg Young People's conference.

It developed that a picnic was desirable. Mr. T. M. Tomlinson was appointed picnic chairman. The picnic will be held some time in July.

Quite a lengthy discussion regarding the proposed remodeling of the building for Sunday school purposes was engaged in, it being the sense of the meeting that classrooms be provided for almost every class.

The novel feature of the meeting was the serving of a waffle-ham-coffee supper by three of the Sunday school workers, Mrs. J. Damskin, Mrs. E. E. Crabtree and Mrs. W. Plorath.

Early endorsement of the proposed community daily Bible school was voted.

In view of the unprecedented increase in Sunday School attendance and the looked for improvement of the S. S. building a general feeling of encouragement characterizes the S. S. work of this church.

MERRITT SCHOOL HAD PICNIC AT PARK HERE

Lower Grades of Merritt School Enjoyed All Day Picnic at Nichols Park.

The children of the lower grades of the Merritt school enjoyed an all day picnic at Nichols park yesterday, the event marking the final day of the school term.

The children were brought to the city during the morning and were accompanied by their teachers, Miss Grace Leach, and a number of the mothers of the children. Baskets filled with good things to eat were brought along and at noon a bountiful dinner was served in real picnic style.

The afternoon hours were spent with games and athletic contests and when the children returned to their homes in the late afternoon it was with the recollection of a very pleasant day.

Among the mothers who attended the picnic were Mrs. W. D. Hitt, Mrs. Oscar Bryer and Mrs. Henry Streube.

Miss Leach has just completed her third term as teacher of the lower grades at the Merritt school and has been engaged for the coming year. Her services have been of a very satisfactory kind and the people of Merritt are glad to know that she is to return for another year.

WHITE HALL HAS GREAT MAY DAY OBSERVANCE

First May Day Observance in White Hall Proved to be a Big Event—Miss Eleanor Baldwin Crowned May Queen.

White Hall, May 3.—The tremendous success accompanying the first May Day observance at White Hall has encouraged the Good Fellows to plan even larger affairs than has yet been credited to them in the two leading functions of last Christmas, when the organization was formed, and May Day. Its charitable activities during its existence is a very impressive matter as it was touched upon by the address of the president, Rev. L. E. Ellison, who rose above creed and political prejudice in taking his position for the general community advancement. The chairman was E. C. Pearce, who engaged in good lung exercises during the afternoon and evening.

The president made it known in connection with the evening exercises that the executive committee has under consideration a countrywide patriotic celebration for the Fourth of July, and further inquiry reveals that this event will have to do with the dedication of the Revolutionary headquarters that have been erected in Greene county during the past three years in memory of its Revolutionary veterans, nine in number so far, more than any other county in the state. Present indications are that the event will assume statewide proportions because of the extent and character of the interest developing at Chicago and in other parts of Illinois not so large in population.

The crowning of the May queen in the person of Miss Eleanor Baldwin was performed by Miss Viola Wright, ex-queen, there having been a shift in this arrangement because of suspected illness, and the chorus of the Music Club sang under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Brown. Queen Eleanor retained the throne in Whiteside Park throughout the evening, when there was a fancy drill by young ladies of the R. N. A., and the crowning event of the occasion was the minstrel which was intended to feature John Wright and Billy Patterson, but which produced so many minstrel stars that the featuring business is hard to place. Publication of the cast of characters by the correspondent gave the management a jar, as it enabled identification of the performers by the audience, and preferences were shown, but so well divided that no one could kick much because of being relegated to obscurity. Back in the string band was the master blackface artist, Frank Henderson with his guitar, and his facial distortions were alone a big part of the show, while his wife did leading parts under Frank's constant admonitions, "Don't give up, boys."

Charles Marks occupied a place in the north alongside the manager, H. L. Littleton, and he was easily a favorite. Going all thru the list, including Mrs. Haddock, Mrs. Mahler, Miss Lucille Evans, it would be difficult to record favorites if all had equal opportunity to display talent for himself from head to foot. The inter-locutor was V. C. Thurman, who has made for himself a steady job in that capacity, as the performance will be made bigger and better for May Day next year. Fully 3,000 people witnessed the frolic as one of the most enjoyable public events ever pulled off, and a move has begun to place voluntary contributions in the hands of Mrs. H. O. Potts, the treasurer, in order that the activities of the Good Fellows may be continued to full capacity.

STEEL SALES HEAD TALKS AT KIWANIS

S. W. Wheelock is Speaker at Meeting of Local Club—Future Programs for Coming Months Outlined

Jacksonville Kiwanis Club heard the romance of the steel industry yesterday at their regular meeting. S. W. Wheelock, manager of the sales department of the St. Louis district of the Carnegie and the Illinois Steel company, subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation, addressed the meeting. The speaker was the guest of the Illinois Steel Bridge company while in this city.

Lloyd Reid reported for the "On to Atlanta" committee. Several other local Kiwanians have designated their intention of going to Atlanta with the delegates and alternates. The party now consists of ten members.

Felix Farrell, chairman of the program committee outlined the future club programs up until the middle of August. This committee has been hard at work and has dated up for presentation to the local club, representatives of some of the largest industries of the United States.

Forty-seven Kiwanians having 100 per cent in attendance for the month of April drew for the monthly attendance prize which was awarded to Fred Capps.

John Johnson reported for the finance committee for camp for underprivileged boys.

G. M. Bardsley, field secretary for the Central Howard association of Chicago occupied a period of five minutes, on the subject of "Beginning Again" in which he explained the work of the Central Howard association.

The main speaker of the day, S. W. Wheelock on the subject of the "Steel Industry" spoke briefly as follows:

In his talk he gave a resume of the development of the iron and steel industry from the earliest times down to the present day. Mr. Wheelock endeavored to impress his hearers with the trials and tribulations that had beset the worker in iron and steel during all ages, and the various steps that brought the art to its present stage of development. He pointed out that iron was made in small quantities and in various localities as long ago as 3,000 or 4,000 years B. C. He mentioned the outstanding inventions applying to the industry, and the greatest inventors such as Dudley, Huntsman, Cort, Bessemer and Siemens. He pointed out that since the invention of the pneumatic and open hearth processes, our magnificent deposits of iron ore, our great transportation facilities, and the magnitude of our steel works had permitted such rapid development that we were now producing daily more pig iron and steel than was produced in an entire year prior to 1872. Mr. Wheelock called attention to the multitudinous uses of iron and steel in our daily lives, impressing his hearers with the fact that on account of its plentitude, its various qualities, and therefore the uses which it is and can be put, it is one of the greatest blessings conferred upon mankind. He closed by referring to the lesson we all can learn from the workers in iron and steel.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO HELP ON BUNDLE DAY

Plans Under Way to Collect Clothing for Near East Relief—Orphans Look to the United States for Means of Support—Exodus from Turkey Hurts Relief Work

Bundle Day for the Near East Relief will be put on in this city Wednesday, May 9. There are 110,000 helpless children in the orient, who are being cared for in orphanages by this organization. All sorts of cast off clothing is needed for these children, and the relief workers look to the United States to furnish these articles.

Children in the local schools are being interested in the matter and numbers of them are planning to take bundles of clothing to the schools on Wednesday morning. Women from the Jacksonville Woman's club will be at the various schools and will care for the bundles. In the afternoon when the bundles have all been received, trucks will call at the schools and transport the bundles to some central point, where they will be sorted and their contents baled for shipment to the relief headquarters.

The recent exodus of Christians from Turkish territory has worked a special hardship on the relief organizations. All orphanages have had to be moved from Turkey and located in other parts of the Near East, some in Palestine, Syria and other countries. The children being cared for are mostly Armenians, with a sprinkling of Assyrians and other nationalities. Thousands of them have been under the care of the Near East Relief for five years. Their parents are scattered to the four winds and separated, thru the Turkish tyranny, and the children have no other means of support.

THE CALL OF THE BIRDS
AT THE KITCHEN WINDOW
 Have you watched the Birds, in their gladness spring time beauty?
 If not, you're missing a treat, and to feed them is a duty.

1. First the Robin, in his brown dress and his pinafore of red, Chasing away the little cock sparrow Chattering on the old wood shed.
 2. While all around the wrens are flying— And here comes the Blue Jay— on these wrens spying With his pick and bill a pound— On the old tree trunk you'll find him as he plays his noisome sounding.

3. Then comes a coloring like the sky above so blue Daintily swaying mid the branches Bringing sunshine sweet to you. And the chorus is not complete Without the Blue Birds chirp so sweet.

4. Again we hear the sweet "sweet" Of melody is heard

NEW YORK, May 3.—Another heavy selling movement launched by big bear traders in the last hours of today's stock market forced recessions of 1 to 5 points in a number of activities and carried several of the so-called leaders to their lowest prices of the year. Four successive days of reaction this week, all of which reached their climax in the final hour, have wiped out virtually all of the year's gains.
At the close of business tonight
both the average of the 20 leading industrial and the average of the 20 leading railroads were at new low records for the year.

While the campaign of short interests has been based more on the failure of the market to respond to favorable outside news developments and to enlist widespread public support, rather than any other disturbing trade news, today's selling was sentimentally influenced by additional cuts in crude oil and sugar prices.

Sugar and equipment shares bore the brunt of today's selling pressure. Buyers' stocks were held largely responsible for the lower prices of sugar products and sugar securities. Raw sugar dropped 1 of a cent today to six cents a pound, cost and freight Cuba, or 1 of a cent below the year's high. Raw sugar futures dropped 4 to 55 points and price of the refined product were cut from 4 to 36. Manhattan sugar dropped 35 points, to 40 cents.

Crude oil prices were also lowered. The price of the standard weight crude oil was cut 10 cents to 1.10 a barrel. The price of the light weight crude oil was cut 10 cents to 1.00 a barrel.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

GOOD THINGS FOR EVERY DAY

THIS is the time of year when a "baked dinner" is appreciated. Of-course it is odorless, but it is worth it. A few minutes with open windows and doors will carry away all trace of the cooked vegetables. It is a good plan to keep the kitchen door closed and a window lowered from the top while the cooking is going on. Cabbage, rutabagas, carrots, potatoes are the vegetables usually cooked together. A nice, fat piece of corned beef with a piece of fat pork makes a good flavor. The meat is put into the vegetable kettle and cooked for an hour at simmering temperature before the vegetables are added. The cabbage is cut into quarters, and if small two will be needed for a family of five who are healthy and like hotted dinners. A good, big rutabaga, weighing three or four pounds, should be cut into wedge-shaped pieces; the carrots, if small, may be cooked whole; otherwise they are cut into halves and quarters. The potatoes are best left whole, and should be of uniform size. Cook slowly for an hour or more, then serve with vegetables arranged in alternating colors around the platter, with the meat in the center. The hash, which may be made from the left-overs, is often as much enjoyed as the original dinner. Chop the vegetables, add some of the broth and chopped meat, stirring until well mixed and seasoned. Salt will need to be added unless the meat is very salty. The broth is very nice and tasty, and may be kept for a dinner-soup later in the week.

Rice Salad.—Take one cupful of cooked rice, one cupful of diced cooked meats, and two cupfuls of minced celery. Season with one-half of a teaspoonful of mustard, one teaspoonful of powdered sugar, a dash of cayenne and moisten with a good halved dressing.
